THE WEEK AHEAD

San Francisco travels to the nation's capital to face off against the Washington Redskins. San Francisco has faced the Redskins 26 times, with the 49ers holding a 16-9-1 advantage. San Francisco has won eight of the last 10 contests. The Redskins won the last meeting in 2004 with a 26-16 victory in San Francisco.

COACHES

Mike Nolan was named the 15th head coach of the 49ers on January 19, 2005. He is 1-4 (.200) in his coaching career. Nolan is in his 19th year in the NFL and 24th in coaching. Nolan joins San Francisco after an impressive stint as defensive coordinator of the Baltimore Ravens. He has held this position with three other teams: New York Jets (2000), Washington Redskins (1997-1999), New York Giants (1993-1996). Nolan began his NFL career in 1987 as linebackers coach and as special teams coach and defensive assistant with Denver.

Joe Gibbs returned to the Washington Redskins as head coach and team president on January 7, 2004.

The most successful coach in Redskins history, Gibbs, who coached the team from 1981-1992, led the Redskins to four Super Bowls (XVII, XVIII, XXII, and XXVI). He is the only coach to win three Super Bowls with three different quarterbacks. Gibbs coached with the St. Louis Cardinals (1973-1977), Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1978), and San Diego Chargers (1979-1980), before joining the Redskins in 1981. He has a career record of 149-77 (.659).

THE LAST TIME

December 18, 2004 – Washington 26, San Francisco 16

The 49ers hopes of their first winning streak of the season were dashed in the first half after LB Antonio Pierce returned an interception 78 yards for a touchdown as Washington rolled to a 26-16 victory at Monster Park.

QB Ken Dorsey had a day he would like to forget as the quarterback struggled against the NFL's second-ranked defense. The 49ers offensive line held up well and gave Dorsey time to throw, but the young signal caller was intercepted four times on the day while completing just 20-of-38 passes for 206 yards.

The day started with promise for Dorsey and the San Francisco offense. On the teams opening possession, Dorsey coolly lead them downfield and capped a nine-play, 71-yard scoring drive with a beautiful 17-yard strike to WR Brandon Lloyd in the end zone. The former Miami Hurricane was an impressive four-of-five for 61 yards on the initial drive.

But that was it for the 49ers offense in the opening half. After gaining 71 yards on the opening series, the team gained just 53 on their remaining six possessions of the half. Dorsey was intercepted three times, including the Pierce touchdown, and Washington converted those into 13 of their 26 total points.

San Francisco finished the day with 254 yards of total offense. RB Maurice Hicks led the ground game with 11 carries for 37 yards. RB Kevan Barlow had six carries for 18 yards, including a long of 12.

RB Clinton Portis paced the Washington running game with 110 yards on 35 carries. QB Patrick Ramsey completed 18-of-27 passes for 214 yards and one touchdown.

San Francisco's special teams unit had another solid day, receiving a blocked punt from S Keith Lewis that was knocked out of the end zone for a safety.

IN DEFENSE OF NOLAN

Mike Nolan has spent 11 seasons as a defensive coordinator for four NFL teams. Here's how those defenses ranked and teams performed:

Year	Team	Rank	Record
2004	Baltimore	6	9-7
2003	Baltimore	3	10-6
2002	Baltimore	22	7-9
2000	NY Jets	10-T	9-7
1999	Washington	30	10-6
1998	Washington	24	6-10
1997	Washington	16	8-7-1
1996	NY Giants	14	6-10
1995	NY Giants	17	5-11
1994	NY Giants	11	9-7
1993	NY Giants	5	11-5

* In 2001 Nolan was the wide receivers coach for the Baltimore Ravens

A BLAST FROM THE PAST

On the first day of training camp, Head Coach Mike Nolan showed the entire team a 20-minute video of the organization's glorious past, featuring QB Y.A. Tittle and HB R.C. Owens. The video then went on to the 1980s with clips of Joe Montana and Ronnie Lott. At the end of the video Lott spoke about carrying a tradition of winning onto the next generation of players.

NOLAN ON TRADITION

Said Nolan, "It is one thing to walk into an organization and to have no history of success. That is a vast difference here with the San Francisco 49ers. There is an expectation level of performance and you do have a responsibility to past players. That is the responsibility of the players, coaches and the entire organization to get this back on track."

RIGHT PLACE, RIGHT TIME

Mike Nolan joined the Oregon football team as a walk-on. Then one day his life took a fluke twist. Oregon's quarterback ran the option in practice and was tackled by the team's safety. On the same play, both suffered season-ending injuries. The backup quarterback was the second-string safety. Just two days later Oregon's third-string safety flunked out of school. Within three days, Nolan had gone from a fourth-string walk-on to a starting safety in one of the nation's toughest football conferences, the PAC-8. (Now the PAC-10).

"I didn't do anything to deserve those breaks," said Nolan. "I grabbed my chance. I started for three years on scholarship."

FATHER KNOWS BEST

There are the Shula's, the Phillips's, the Mora's and now the Nolan's - the fourth NFL family to have a father and a son handle head-coaching roles.

Mike Nolan is following in the footsteps of his father, Dick Nolan, who served as 49ers coach from 1968-1975.

"There are a lot of great memories for me," said Nolan about growing up watching his dad, Dick Nolan, coach. "I had a great relationship with a lot of the players, like Dave Wilcox (49ers linebacker from 1964-74). For them to throw me a towel was a big deal."

Nolan is also the second NFL head-coach son of a head-coach father to follow a father who was an NFL defensive back. Dick Nolan was a cornerback and safety for the New York Giants and Chicago Cardinals from 1954-1961, playing in the Giants NFL Championship games in 1956, 1959 and 1961.

The other NFL DB who produced an NFL head coach (David Shula) was Don Shula, who played the position for Cleveland, Baltimore and Washington from 1951-1957.

IN NFL HISTORY:

Father	Teams	Record	Son	Teams	Record
Shula, Don	BALT/MIA	347-173	Dave	CIN	19-52
Phillips, Bum	HOU/NO	86-80	*Wade		48-42
Mora Jim	NO/IND	126-113	Jim	ATL	12-6

*Wade Phillips coached for NO/DEN/BUF/ATL

WORST TO FIRST?

In the past six NFL seasons (1999-2004), nine different teams have gone from last place to first place in their division. The 49ers, who were 2-14 and last in the NFC West, would match the accomplishment of the 1999 Indianapolis Colts and St. Louis Rams, 2000 New Orleans Saints, 2001 Chicago Bears and New England Patriots, 2003 Carolina Panthers and Kansas City Chiefs and the 2004 Atlanta Falcons and San Diego Chargers. In the five years before the 1999 season (1994-98), only one team, the 1997 New York Giants, managed the worst-to-first turnaround.

Said Head Coach Mike Nolan on winning the West: "That is my expectation - not my hope. The reason I say that is, hopes can be let down and it's not a big letdown. But, expectations, that's a bigger deal. I believe the player has to have the same thing. I don't like for player's to hope they're going to do something. I would like them to have the expectations to do those things. That way, they'll hold themselves much more accountable for doing it."

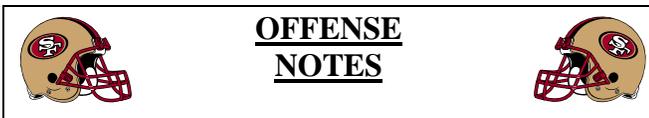

LORD OF THE RINGS

The night before Mike Nolan's first game, his oldest brother Rook met him at the team hotel with a special gift. The gift was his father, Dick Nolan's, 1956 NFL championship ring that he earned as a defensive back with the New York Giants. The ring was given to Rook when he moved out of the family house. Rook, who took his name since he was born during his father's rookie season in 1954, thought Mike should wear the ring during his first regular-season game as head coach. The younger Nolan wore the ring with the face down close to his palm.

"I wasn't sure if it would distract me, so I put it on this way," Nolan explained.

He wore it simply because his brother had asked, out of sentiment, not as a good-luck charm. He wanted to make it clear that he isn't superstitious as he didn't wear the ring against Philadelphia.

"If I have any superstitions, it's to make sure I'm not," he said.

MAKING A SPLASH

WR Brandon Lloyd recorded CAREER-HIGHS in every major category in 2004, finishing the season with 43 receptions for 565 yards for a 13.1 average and six touchdowns. The third-year veteran from Illinois has caught touchdown passes in eight of his last 15 games. He leads the team with 17 catches for 326 yards.

BIG PLAY BRANDON

Pretty soon, the B in Brandon Lloyd's nickname will stand for big-play. The third-year pro from Illinois has emerged as a bonafide deep threat. Lloyd had his first career 100-yard receiving game after finishing with four catches for 142 yards and two touchdowns against Dallas (9-26-05). His previous best was 93 yards receiving at the New York Jets (10-17-04). The Dallas game marked another milestone for Lloyd, as he had the first two-touchdown game of his career with an 89-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter and a 13-yard reception in the third quarter. He ranks second in the NFC with 19.2 yards per catch and has added three touchdowns on the year.

Terry Glenn	DAL	16	400	20.1	3
Brandon Lloyd	SF	17	326	19.2	3

INSTANT CONNECTION

The 89-yard touchdown pass from Tim Rattay to Brandon Lloyd was the 49ers longest play from scrimmage since RB Garrison Hearst's 96-yard touchdown run vs. NY Jets (9-6-98) in a 36-30 overtime win.

1,000 YARDS

With 17 catches for 326 yards, Lloyd is on pace to finish the season with 54 receptions and 1,043 yards. If he passes the 1,000 yard mark, Lloyd would be the first 49ers receiver to do since 2003 when Terrell Owens had 1,102 yards.

ANOTHER CAREER DAY

Brandon Lloyd established a CAREER-HIGH with seven receptions against Arizona (10-3-05), besting the six he had at the New York Jets (10-17-04). Lloyd had his second NFL 100-yard receiving day after finishing with seven receptions for 102 yards. He had his first 100-yard receiving day vs. Dallas (9-25-05) when he finished with four receptions for 142 yards.

J MOTION

WR Johnnie Morton comes to the 49ers from the Kansas City Chiefs, immediately establishing himself as the team's most experienced receiver. He enters his 12th season in the NFL and continued his penchant for big plays with a 30-yard reception with against St. Louis (9-11-05). He has 10 catches for 99 yards on the season.

BATTLE TESTED

WR Arnaz Battle became a significant contributor on both special teams and at wide receiver, seeing action in 14 games during the 2004 campaign. He set a CAREER-HIGH with eight receptions last season. Battle led the team in receptions in the team's first three contests and has a team-high 15 receptions for 171 yards and two scores.

SLASH

A multi-purpose threat, wide receiver Arnaz Battle even relived some of his college quarterbacking days from the Fighting Irish as he completed two passes for 27 yards against St. Louis (9-11-05). Battle, a former college quarterback at Notre Dame who idolized Joe Montana as a youth in Shreveport, Louisiana (he even wore Montana's #3 at Notre Dame), completed his first NFL pass with a 24-connection pass with Brandon Lloyd in the second quarter. Battle completed his second pass of the game later in the second quarter with a three yard pass to RB Frank Gore.

RUSHING YARDS (since 1998)

Denver	16,357
Pittsburgh	15,716
San Francisco	15,056

BORN TO RUN

RB Kevan Barlow looks to regain the form that led him to become a 1,000-yard rusher in only four starts. 2004, however, was not lost for Barlow as he established several CAREER-HIGHS last season. He rushed for a CAREER-HIGH seven touchdowns in 14 starts, tied his CAREER-HIGH with 35 receptions and he led the team with a CAREER-HIGH 244 carries last season. He leads the team in rushing with a 4.1 yard average on 64 carries for 265 yards. He has picked up his production in his last three games averaging 5.1 yards per carry. During that span he has 40 carries for 209 yards.

LEFT ADDITION

As the first major free agent signing of the 2005 season, T Jonas Jennings started all 52 games during his four seasons with the Buffalo Bills (2001-2004). He was a major factor in Buffalo rookie running back Willis McGahee's 1,128-yard season in 2004. The 6-3, 325 pound product from Georgia will be looked upon to protect the blindside of the quarterback and open running lanes. A music aficionado, Jennings has a pre-game ritual of listening to his custom iPod before the game. With over 8,000 tracks, Jennings prepares himself by listening to everything from blues, gospel and R&B.

RIGHT ON

T Kwame Harris played in 14 contests, with seven starting assignments at left tackle in 2004. The new coaching staff moved Harris to right tackle, a natural position he manned throughout high school and college.

RAT-A-TAT

QB Tim Rattay played an efficient game in the team's 28-25 victory against St. Louis in the season opener. He had a career year in 2004, establishing highs in every statistical category. Playing and starting in nine games last season, Rattay completed 198 of 325 passes for 2,169 yards and 10 touchdowns.

RATTAY PASSES BAR FOR PASSER RATING

Tim Rattay wasted no time kicking off the 2005 NFL season, throwing for two touchdowns and a CAREER-HIGH 141.9 passer rating in a 28-25 victory against the St. Louis Rams. Rattay, completed 11 of 16 attempts with two touchdowns and no interceptions. The new career mark bests his previous top passer rating of 130.6, set during a 2003 win over the Pittsburgh Steelers (11/17).

Date	Opponent	Rating
9/11/05	St. Louis	141.9
11/17/03	Pittsburgh	130.6
12/07/03	Arizona	118.8
12/30/02	at St. Louis	116.8

89ER

Tim Rattay's 89-yard touchdown pass against Dallas (9-25-05) to WR Brandon Lloyd is the longest completion of his career, besting the 65-yard pass to WR Arnaz Battle at the NY Jets (10-17-4). It was also Rattay's longest touchdown pass of his career, besting the 39-yard touchdown pass to Lloyd vs. Seattle (11-7-04). Additionally, it is the sixth-longest touchdown strike in 49ers history.

LONGEST COMPLETIONS IN 49ERS HISTORY

- 97t Steve Young to John Taylor at Atlanta (11-3-91)
- 96t Joe Montana to Jerry Rice at San Diego (11-27-88)
- 95t Joe Montana to John Taylor at L.A. Rams (12-11-89)
- 93t Steve DeBerg to Freddie Solomon vs. Atlanta (9-28-80)
- 92t Joe Montana to John Taylor at L.A. Rams (12-11-89)
- 89t Tim Rattay to Brandon Lloyd vs. Dallas (9-25-05)

TWO PLUS

Tim Rattay has two-plus touchdown passes in eight of ten career starts at home. Against Dallas (9-25-05), he threw for three scores. This was his second career three-touchdown game. His other three-touchdown game was vs. St. Louis (11-2-03).

PASSING FANCY

Tim Rattay's 417-yard performance vs. Arizona (10/10/04) was the 13th time a San Francisco quarterback went over the 400-yard mark. Joe Montana achieved the feat seven times, Steve Young three times and Jeff Garcia went over 400 yards twice.

YDS	Player (Game)

417	Tim Rattay (SF vs. Ari 10/10 OT, 38-57, 2 TD)

SEVENTH HEAVEN

Tim Rattay is the only seventh-round quarterback in the last 10 drafts to pass for over 400 yards in a game. Since 1995, 26 quarterbacks have been selected, and Rattay is one of only two seventh-round or undrafted quarterbacks to enter the league in the last 10 years to pass for over 400 yards in a game. Jeff Garcia was the other quarterback. He passed for 437 yards in 1999 and 402 in 2000.

MO BETTER

RB Maurice Hicks had a historic first career start, rushing 34 times for 139 yards and catching five passes for 29 yards at Arizona (12/12/04). He rushed for one score and tied a 49ers single-game mark for most touches in a single game with 39. Hicks became just the third 49er and first 49ers free agent to rush for over 100 yards in his first career start.

Kevan Barlow (vs. Ari - 2003) 18-154

ALL IN THE NUMBERS

The past five No. 1 overall selections in the NFL have chosen jersey numbers in ascending order.

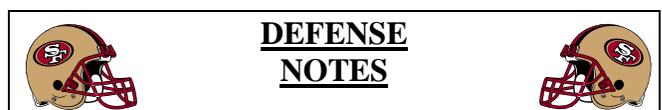

PLAYER	YEAR	UNIFORM NO.
Michael Vick	2001	7
David Carr	2002	8
Carson Palmer	2003	9
Eli Manning	2004	10
Alex Smith	2005	11

Said Smith on choosing number 11, "I used to wear No. 7 in high school to honor my favorite player John Elway. But No. 7 wasn't available when I was a freshman at Utah, so I chose No. 11. By the time No. 7 was free, people identified me with No. 11, so I decided to stick with it. I want to create my own way in the NFL, not take a number that was associated with another player. I want the number 11 to remind people of Alex Smith."

QUICK LEARNERS

Two of the 49ers 2005 rookie players are lining up at different positions than what they played in college:

- Fifth-round draft pick Rasheed Marshall played quarterback at West Virginia but transitioned to wide receiver in the NFL.
- Seventh-round pick Patrick Estes played tight end at Virginia but was switched to tackle with the 49ers.
- In addition, Corey Smith went through most of training camp at defensive end but was switched to linebacker prior to the second preseason game at Denver and made the final 53-man roster as a reserve linebacker after leading the team with four sacks in the preseason. He had two sacks, a forced fumble and a fourth-down stop in the finale preseason game at San Diego.

YOUNG AGAIN

Twelve-year DE Bryant Young played a remarkable game in San Francisco's 28-25 victory over division rival St. Louis (9-11-05). Young paced the 49ers with three of San Francisco's seven sacks. His three first half sacks, tied a CAREER-HIGH set coincidentally against St. Louis (10-6-96). The last player to notch three sacks on opening day was Kenard Lang of the Cleveland Browns (9-12-04) vs. Baltimore.

ELDER STATES MAN

With his three sacks against St. Louis (9-11-05), one against Dallas (9-25-05) and two against Arizona (10-2-05), Bryant Young is in sole possession of third place on the 49ers all-time sack list with 75.5 sacks.

49ERS ALL-TIME SACK LEADERS

Cedrick Hardman	(1970-79)	112.5
Tommy Hart	(1968-77)	106.0
Bryant Young	(1994-curr.)	75.5
Charles Haley	(1986-91,1999)	66.5
Dwaine Board	(1979-88)	61.0

MULTI-SACK

DT Bryant Young had his second multiple sack game of the 2005 season with a nine-yard sack in the first quarter and a nine-yard sack in the fourth quarter at Arizona (10-2-05). He had three sacks in the season-opener vs. St. Louis (9-11-05), matching his output from 2004. Young's first sack came on the first play of the game against Arizona. Young forced QB Josh McCown to fumble on the play and the 49ers returned the ball for a touchdown and a quick 7-0 lead. It was Young's 19th multi-sack game. Young is tied for second in the NFL with 6.0 sacks.

FOREVER YOUNG

Bryant Young was named the NFC Defensive Player of the Week following the 49ers opening day win vs. St. Louis when he matched his 2004 season total of 3.0 sacks with three against the Rams. He is on pace for 19.0 sacks which would easily surpass his CAREER-HIGH 11.5 sacks in 1996.

Tony Parrish, a mainstay on the 49ers defense since 2002, has started 117 consecutive regular season games, the second longest active streak at his position. He started all 64 games while he played with Chicago (1998-01) and has started all 53 games with the 49ers (2002-05). Parrish started in one postseason game with the Bears (2001) and two postseason games with San Francisco (2002).

PARRISH PEAKS

Tony Parrish's 34-yard second-quarter pick against Dallas (9-25-05) was his second career interception return for a touchdown. His other trip into the end zone was when he was a member of the Chicago Bears. He returned a 38-yard interception for a touchdown against Tampa Bay (11-17-00). It was also the first 49ers interception return for a touchdown since cornerback Ahmed Plummer's 68-yard scamper against Chicago (9-7-03).

DOUBLE THE MONEY

Tony Parrish had two picks against Dallas (9-25-05). It was his fourth two-interception game and first two-interception game since he had two at Tampa Bay (11-21) last season.

BALL HAWK

Tony Parrish led the 49ers in interceptions for the third-straight season with four interceptions in 2004. He tied a CAREER-HIGH with two interceptions at Tampa Bay (11/21/04). It was the third time he has tallied two picks in a single game.

BACK ON THE ATTACK

LB Julian Peterson got off to a hot start in 2004, notching 34 tackles (19 solo), 2.5 sacks and two passes defended in his first five games, but was sidelined with a season-ending Achilles injury five games into the season in a game vs. Arizona (10-10-04). He leads the 49ers linebackers with 2.5 sacks and has 19.5 tackles and two passes defended on the season.

CONVERSION

LB Andre Carter will make an impact with his size and speed, moving from the defensive end position to outside linebacker in the 49ers newly installed 3-4 defense. Carter was hampered by a back injury in 2004 and is looking to regain the form that produced 27.5 sacks from 2001-03. He had three tackles and 0.5 sacks at his debut in the new position against St. Louis (9-11-05). He added four tackles against Dallas (9-26-05). Carter was the first defender in the NFL to notch a sack against Peyton Manning and the Indianapolis Colts (10-9-05) and has 20.5 tackles on the season.

NOSE FOR THE BALL

Cornerback Derrick Johnson's 78-yard touchdown return against Arizona (10-2-05) is the fifth longest fumble return for a touchdown in team history. The rookie corner from Washington became the second member of the 49ers 2005 rookie class to start when he lined up at left cornerback due to the injury to Ahmed Plummer (ankle). He has shown a knack for turnovers, picking off from the preseason where he had three interceptions and a fumble recovery.

DEFENSIVE SCORES

The 49ers jumped to a 14-0 first quarter lead on two fumbles that were returned for a touchdown against Arizona (10-2-05). On the game's first play, DT Bryant Young forced QB Josh McCown to fumble on a nine-yard sack. LB Brandon Moore recovered the ball at the Arizona ten-yard line and advanced to the one before he fumbled the ball into end zone where LB Derek Smith recovered for a touchdown. Later in the first quarter, DT Travis Hall forced RB Marcel Shipp to fumble and rookie CB Derrick Johnson scooped up the loose ball and raced 78 yards for a touchdown.

DEFENSIVE SCORES PART TWO

Against Arizona (10-2-05), the 49ers scored on two fumbles that were returned for touchdowns. This was the first time this happened since November 14, 1965 in a 27-21 win at Detroit. LB Dave Wilcox scored on an eight-yard return and DE Clark Miller scored on a 75-yard return. It was the first time the 49ers had two defensive touchdowns in a game since October 28, 2001 at Chicago in a 37-31 overtime loss. In that game, LB Julian Peterson scored on a 26-yard interception return and S Zack Bronson scored on a 97-yard interception return.

PRACTICE SQUAD MAKES PERFECT

First-year cornerback Bruce Thornton made his first NFL start when he lined up at left cornerback in place of the injured Ahmed Plummer (ankle). He had his first career interception in the third quarter when he picked off a QB Peyton Manning pass that was intended to WR Marvin Harrison in the end zone. In fact, Thornton limited the explosive receiver to only two catches for 17 yards. Matched up against the receiver all game, Thornton finished with an interception, two tackles and one pass defended. For his performance, Thornton received honorable mention by the NFL for its defensive player of the week.

OTIS MY MAN

Otis Amey returned a second-quarter punt 75 yards for a touchdown on opening week. The play changed the momentum of San Francisco's 28-25 victory against St. Louis. He was the fifth 49ers rookie to return a punt for a touchdown and the first to do so on a punt return. He also became the second 49ers player to score a touchdown on his first touch. WR Nate Singleton's first NFL reception was a six-yarder from QB Steve Young on September 18, 1993 vs. Atlanta during the third game of his rookie season. It was the 49ers sixth-longest punt return for a touchdown by a 49ers rookie. Hugh McElhenny established the team mark with a 94-yard punt returned for a touchdown vs. Chicago on October 16, 1952.

Here is a list of other 49ers that set and maintained the precedence of scoring a touchdown on their first touch:

Player	Scoring Play	Date	Opp.
Joe Perry	58-yard TD run	8-29-48	Buffalo
Hugh McElhenny	42-yard TD run	8-24-52	Chicago

MAKING A NAME FOR HIMSELF

Rookie Otis Amey made a name for himself in his NFL debut against the St. Louis Rams (9-11-05). After being known as Fred Amey all through training camp, Amey let team officials know that he refers to be called by his middle name – Otis. If Amey keeps playing like he did in his debut, the 49ers will be happy to keep calling him whatever he wants.

ACTION JACKSON

RB Terry Jackson is making a name for himself as one of the NFL's most-reliable special teams players, notching 94 career special teams tackles during his six NFL seasons. He came close to besting his CAREER-HIGH 22 special teams tackles set in 2002 after finishing with 17 last season. Against St. Louis (9-11-05), Jackson recovered an onside kick in the second quarter and notched another against Indianapolis (10-9-05). It was the first successful onside kick for the 49ers since 10-5-87 at the NY Giants. He is tied for first on the team with six special teams tackles.

NOT YOUR AVERAGE JOE

K Joe Nedney has never missed a field goal (53 of 53) of less than 30 yards during his nine NFL seasons. Nedney is looking to bounce back from a season-ending hamstring injury in 2004 that sidelined him for the entire campaign while playing for Tennessee. He is a perfect 3-3 on field goals attempts this season.

DANDY ANDY

P Andy Lee punted 96 times for 3,990 yards and a 41.6-yard average. The last time a 49ers punter averaged over 40 yards per punt was 1998, when Reggie Roby averaged 41.9 yards. Lee sailed the fourth-longest punt in team history with an 81-yard bomb at Tampa Bay (11/21/04). It was his career best and the longest punt of the year in the NFL, making him the first 49ers rookie to notch the longest punt of the year since Larry Barnes did it with an 86-yarder in his 1957 rookie season. In 2005, Lee has fared well, placing seven kicks inside the 20-yard line. He has a 42.9 gross average and has not had a punt blocked this season.

SNAP – ON

One of the NFL's elite long snappers, Brian Jennings was named to his first Pro Bowl in 2004 as a "need player," handling the long-snapping duties. Jennings Pro Bowl selection marked the 24th consecutive season that the 49ers were represented by at least one player.

SPECIAL DELIVERY

S Keith Lewis made a name for himself by making game-changing plays on special teams. He became the first player in 49ers history to block a punt (vs. Washington 12/18/04), force a fumble (vs. TB 11/21/04) and recover a fumble (at Arizona 12/12/04) in the same season. Lewis tied for second on the team with 17 special teams tackles.

MOORE OF A GOOD THING

LB Brandon Moore played in 12 games at linebacker, notching one sack and a fumble recovery, and he made an incredible impact on special teams, leading the team with 22 special teams tackles in 2004. Moore recorded his first career sack at Chicago (10/31/04). The ferocious hit resulted in a forced fumble recovery that led to a touchdown. Moore saw his most significant action of the season in the fourth quarter against Dallas when he filled in for Julian Peterson after Peterson left with a hamstring strain. Moore finished with his second career NFL sack on a seven-yard sack of QB Drew Bledsoe in the fourth quarter.

A HISTORICAL LOOK AT DICK AND MIKE NOLAN

Dick Nolan was named head coach of the 49ers on January 19, 1968. Mike Nolan was named head coach of the 49ers on January 19, 2005

Passing the Torch - It was 1968 when Dick Nolan took over as the 49ers leader on the gridiron. He inherited a 7-7 squad in San Francisco after leaving his post as a defensive coach for the Dallas Cowboys. After just two seasons, Dick bolstered his roster and captured three straight NFC West Divisional Championships (1970-72) while his teams made two NFL Championship appearances.

During that span, his son, Mike, could be found scampering around the 49ers locker room and intently watching his father's every coaching move on the practice field. Several decades later, Mike Nolan has picked up where his father left off. He became the 15th head coach of the San Francisco 49ers and is ready to ignite his father's winning chemistry in his 2005 inaugural squad.

RICHARD C. 'DICK' NOLAN - 49ers Head Coach

Dick Nolan's NFL Coaching Highlights

- When he joined the 49ers as head coach, Nolan installed the Dallas Cowboys' "Flex" defense.
- Nolan moved the 49ers Training Camp from St. Mary's College (Moraga) to the UC-Santa Barbara campus at Goleta in 1968.
- Acquired Dallas Cowboys' linebacker Harold Hays to strengthen the 49ers' linebacker corps.
- With the loss of 49ers' All-Pro WR David Parks to free agency (New Orleans Saints), Nolan acquired Cleveland Browns' reserve WR Clifton McNeil (Grambling) for a high draft choice on September 2, 1968 (four days before the final exhibition game).
- Clifton McNeil's first season as an NFL starter results in his selection to the 1968 Pro Bowl and being named First Team All-Pro. McNeil is 49ers' team leader in receiving (71 for 994 yards and seven touchdowns).
- Nolan leads the 49ers to post-season play in just his third season as a head coach (1970). It marked the 49ers' first appearance in the playoffs since 1957.
- The 49ers participated in the playoffs from 1970-72, being stopped by Dallas in all three appearances.
- Nolan's toughest defeat came at the hands of the Dallas Cowboys in the 1972 NFC Playoff Game at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium. With less than two minutes remaining in the game and the 49ers up 28-16, QB Roger Staubach rallied his Cowboys for two touchdowns in the final 1:10. With just 0:56 seconds remaining in the game, Staubach took the snap from center and threw a ten-yard strike to reserve E Ron Sellers who curled in front of 49ers DB Windlan Hall at the goal line to complete the Cowboys' 30-28 come-from-behind victory.

MIKE NOLAN - Current 49ers Head Coach

Mike Nolan's NFL Coaching Highlights

- Launched his coaching career as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Oregon in 1981.
- Held positions as a linebackers or defensive backs coach at Stanford, Rice and LSU from 1982-86 before joining the NFL ranks under former Broncos' coach Dan Reeves.
- Nolan went on to serve as defensive coordinator for the NY Giants (1993-96), Washington (1997-99), NY Jets (2000) before joining Baltimore in 2001 where he was the Ravens wide receiver coach.
- In 2002, he became the defensive coordinator for Baltimore and coached eight rookies on the defensive roster by season's end. Baltimore finished first in the AFC with a team-record 25 interceptions and was second in the NFL in fewest yards per rush.
- In 2003, Nolan's defense finished third in the NFL. Baltimore ranked first in the AFC with 17 fumble recoveries and led the NFL in sacks (47).
- Nolan was named to USA Today's All-Joe Team following the 2003 season and NFL Assistant Coach of the Year by the Football Digest. LB Ray Lewis was named the AP's NFL Defensive Player of the Year. LB Terrell Suggs was named the AP's NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year while setting a Ravens' rookie record with 12 sacks.
- In 2004, Nolan's defense finished tied for second in the NFL in average rush per carry (3.6 yards). S Ed Reed was named the AP NFL Defensive Player of the Year.
- Over the past two seasons, Nolan's defenses have yielded nine Pro Bowl starters. His stingy defensive units also produced the last two NFL Defensive Players of the Year.

PROBABLE STARTERS NOTES

OFFENSE

WR Arnaz Battle has emerged as a multi-purpose threat, leading the team with 15 catches for 171 yards and two touchdowns. He has led the team in reception in each of the team's first three games. Battle has also completed two passes for 27 yards for a 118.8 quarterback rating.

WR Brandon Lloyd caught the 49ers first touchdown of 2005 on a 35-yard reception against the Rams. Lloyd has scored in eight of his last 16 games and leads the team with a 19.2 average per catch.

LT Jonas Jennings was the first major free agent signing of the 2005 season and has already emerged as one of the leaders on offense both vocally and physically. At Buffalo, Jennings started 52 career games and helped catapult QB Drew Bledsoe, RB Travis Henry and WR Eric Moulds to career seasons and Pro Bowl honors.

LG Justin Smiley enters his second NFL season with 16 games of rookie action notched in his belt. He has started all five games in 2005.

C Jeremy Newberry missed the entire training camp with a knee injury that limited him to just one game last season. He returned to play in the final-preseason game at San Diego. Head Coach Mike Nolan plans to limit the two-time Pro Bowler to one practice a week in order to help rest his knee. The rest has paid dividends as Newberry has started every game in 2005.

RG Eric Heitmann took the reins at right guard after playing center during the preseason in place of Jeremy Newberry while he was rehabilitating his knee. Heitmann played in every offensive snap in 2004 from the left guard post. The versatile lineman was the first rookie to start a game on the offensive line (2002) since 1987, when Harris Barton started at right tackle.

RT Kwame Harris enters his third NFL season, Harris made the move back to his natural right tackle post in 2005, a position he manned throughout his college career at Stanford and at Newark (DE) High School.

TE Steve Bush is a versatile tight end and running back who replaces regular starter Eric Johnson who was placed on injured reserve. Bush has three receptions for 21 yards on the season.

RB Kevan Barlow looks to bolster the team's running game. Barlow handled the bulk of the load in 2004, leading the team with 244 carries for 822 yards and a career-high seven touchdowns. He rushed for a season high 99 yards against the Indianapolis Colts (10-9-05) and leads the team with 64 rushes for 265 yards and one touchdown. He also has great hands as evident by his 15 catches for 115 yards.

FB Fred Beasley is one of the best blocking fullbacks in the NFL. The two-time Pro Bowler is a key component in paving the way in both the running and passing game.

QB Alex Smith was named the starting quarterback against Indianapolis (10-9-05). The first round pick learned a lot facing the NFL's top-ranked defense. Although he threw four interceptions, his mobility and play-calling opened running lanes at the line of scrimmage was instrumental in the 49ers rushing for 133 yards on the ground. He completed 9-of-23 passes for 74 yards and had two carries for three yards.
